

Faculty of Exact and Natural Sciences

Doctoral Program: Mathematics

Khatuna Mshvenieradze

General overview of the basics informatiology

Abstract:

In the present paper sets out the basis informatiology. Given by a formalization of concepts of information and information processes. Presents the fundamentals methodological foundations of informationology. This monograph can be useful to of people of different specialties. The concept of informatiology is given in the aspect of the social and natural significance of the information.